

We have gone through many things together Your tears, my worries The truth of us

And after it all

I recommit my life to you

Once again